

Mcllroy Park 4th May

Today's task was putting down a thick layer of woodchip to surface one of the paths through Mcllroy Park. We used staked down logs to provide the path edging and then filled the middle of the path with 4-6" of woodchip. One of the locals out walking her dogs congratulated us on the work, whilst the local youth asked if it was ok to ride their motorbikes along the path. Makes you wonder how long it will last..... This was the path where we put in steps and drainage ditches last year.
